CONECTORES DE ORACIONES SUBORDINADAS.
Los conectores son preposiciones o conjunciones que conectan las oraciones subordinadas a las oraciones principales.

CLAUSES OF CONTRAST. (Oraciones subordinadas adversativas)
- Although / even though + subordinate clause. Despite the fact that + subordinate clause.
- In spite of / despite + noun or gerund.

Rephrasing:
- Although I was very tired, I went to the party with all my friends.
- In spite of despite being very tired, I went to the party with all my friends.

- He arrived on time despite / in spite of getting up late.
- Although / Despite the fact that he had got up late, he arrived on time.

- Even though the students hadn´t studied, they all passed the exam.
- In spite of / despite not having studied, all the students passed the exam.

CLAUSES OF PURPOSE. (Oraciones subordinadas de finalidad o propósito)
In order to / so as to / to + infinitive.
So that / in order that + subordinate clause.

Rephrasing:
- I hurried so that I wouldn´t miss the train
  I hurried in order not to miss the train.

- I went to Madrid to learn Spanish.
  I went to Madrid in order to learn Spanish.

- I´m saving money so that my daughter can go to university.
  I´m saving money in order that my daughter can go to university.

- I´ve come here not to argue with you, but to apologise for what I´ve done.
  I´ve come here not so as to argue with you, but to apologise for what I´ve done.

CAUSE CLAUSES: (Oraciones subordinadas de causa)
Because / as / since.

Rephrasing:
- I couldn´t tell him because I didn´t see him.
  Since I didn´t see him I couldn´t tell him.
- As it is raining, we are going to the cinema this afternoon.
  We are going to the cinema this afternoon because it is raining.

EFFECT CLAUSES. (Oraciones subordinadas de efecto)

So. Therefore / consequently / as a result.

Rephrasing

-He had spent three years in Peru so he spoke Spanish quite well.
  He had spent three years in Peru, as a result, he spoke Spanish quite well.
  consequently he spoke Spanish quite well.

CONSECUTIVE CLAUSES. (Oraciones subordinadas consecutivas).

- Such a/an + adjective + singular countable noun
  It is such a cheap book that I will buy it.
- Such + adjective + plural countable noun + (that) + main clause.
  They are such honest students that I will trust (on) them.
- Such + adjective + uncountable noun + (that) + main clause.
  It is such good wine that we will all drink it.
- So + adjective / adverb
  The red car is so fast that I’ll buy it.
  She speaks so slowly and quietly that she bores me.
- So + much + uncountable noun.
  There was so much noise that nobody heard me.
- So + many + plural countable noun.
  There were so many people at the party that we could hardly move.

Rephrasing:

- It is such a cheap book that I will buy it.
  The book is so cheap that I will buy it.

- The students are so honest that I will trust them.
  They are such honest students that I will trust them.

- It is such good wine that we will all drink it.
  The wine is so good that we will all drink it.